If, in the opinion of MBS, it should become no longer practical or possible to use this gift for the specified purpose, (for example, if the program to which it relates is restructured or discontinued), MBS will seek the written consent of the donor (or family, if applicable) to redirect the gift to a new purpose. If the donor cannot be traced, MBS will direct the gift towards a new purpose that is, in their opinion, as close as possible to the original intent of the donor. The support provided by the redirected gift will continue to be identified with the donor.
